CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY

- Montreal, Quebec, Canada
- 38,000 students / 24,000 FTEs
- 30,000 admission applications per year
- Four Faculties and School of Graduate Studies

WHY CHANGE THE PROCESS?

We needed to be more efficient in the processing of admission applications

Needed to involve the four Faculties more closely in the admission process

Significant growth (50%) in admission applications over 6 years (Period 1997-2003)

Needed more timely and comprehensive data on admissions

Technology was being underutilized

GOALS

Demonstrable improvements in efficiency in processing cycle time of undergraduate admission applications by eliminating process inefficiencies

Introduction of distributed access to information system

Engagement of faculties in the admission process

Real time immediate access to student admission application and supporting documentation

KEY CHALLENGES

Transform processes while in production

Balance strategic (OD) and operational perspectives (BPR)

Pursue institutional effectiveness and unit/silo perspective

Embrace technology but use it with clear purpose

Introduce changes within a very short window of opportunity

GETTING STARTED

Get buy-in from participating staff

Involved Labour Union leaders early in process

Commitment there would be no reduction of staff complement

Affirmed that changes would be made as required in work organization, job functions, systems, jurisdiction and structures

Established an IT Team dedicated to this project

IMPLEMENTATION CONSIDERATIONS

This transformation process was not driven by a detailed blueprint for change but rather by the ongoing implementation enhancements which were identified and adopted by the Stakeholders

- Understanding
- Unfreezing / Visioning
- Re-engineering / Design

SHIFT IN PARADIGM

FROM

Passive file management approach driven by prompts and chronological/sequential processing

TO

Proactive file management approach driven by institutional priorities and any application characteristics

The document also features a barcode and a "SEAL'D DOCUMENT" stamp with the date "MAY - 3 2005" and initials "SJS".
